The first one is the paper-based IELTS test and the second one is the computer-delivered IELTS test. The test taker takes the paper-based test on the sheet given by the examiner. Thus, it is advisable to take the practice test based sample answer sheets that are available online. You can download the answer sheets for each section and practice your IELTS test in the answer sheets itself so that you do not have to struggle while actually taking the IELTS test. In this article, we will look into the IELTS answer sheets in which the candidates have to write their answers of Task 1 as well as Task 2. The test taker should use the answer sheet in the manner that the examiner wants him/her to use it or else there is a chance of missing the information as well as the danger of writing the correct information in the wrong places. This may, in turn, result in wastage of the whole answer sheet. Apart from this, if you know where to write the exact information, you will get some extra time to review the information. So let us examine the importance of practicing for the IELTS examination on the answer sheet. The importance of practicing the IELTS exam on the answer sheet is that you will know how many words can fit into a single answer sheet so that you do not have to sit and count the words. By this, you will also be able to save time in the actual IELTS exam. If one answer sheet is not enough you can take a print of another answer sheet and check for the word count. So you will get an idea of the word count while practicing itself. By knowing this information in advance, you can concentrate more on the content, grammar, and vocabulary instead of getting distracted by the word count while writing the answers. While practicing on the answer sheet you will also concentrate on your handwriting, you will not exceed the lines that are given which makes your handwriting look neat. Common misconceptions : Separate IELTS writing task 1 answer sheet exists. Separate IELTS writing task 2 answer sheet exists. Clarification about the misconceptions: There is only one writing answer sheet in which both the tasks have to be answered. Given below is the link of IELTS answer sheet for writing. Link to IELTS Writing answer sheet The answer sheet in which you are going to write your IELTS answers has different sections. Details about filling them are explained below: In the first section, the test takers have to fill up the general information such as the name of the candidate, number and exam centre number which is available in the slip given to you during the registration. The candidate must enter the name exactly as it is entered in the given registration slip. The candidate is asked to fill their name using block letters. They are also asked to tick the correct module which they are going to attempt, whether it is Academic or General training module. You should also enter the test date. Put 0 in the first box if the date/month is less than 10. In the lower right-hand corner, there is one more field in the same section where you are asked to mention the current sheet number as well as the total number of sheets used. You do not have to fill it at the beginning itself because you do not know how many extra sheets you are going to use. You can fill this field once you are done with the IELTS test and before submitting it to the examiner. In the second section, you need to write your task or the explanation for the topic given. There will be a warning written which says 'do not write after this line' where you have to stop writing on the first page and skip to the second page. It is not compulsory to use these answer sheets while practicing, but if you use these sheets, you will be benefitted. You will avoid making mistakes and also you can save some time. Also check: Can I write where 'do not write below this line' is given? No. It is not permissible. You should write only in the space allotted. Why should I waste time by practicing on the answer sheet? If you don't spend time practicing now, you may be wasting time in the exam, when you can actually use it for priority tasks. You may be at a loss to know where to write a particular information. What are the advantages of practicing in the answer sheet? You will get to know how many lines fit into a single answer sheet so that you do not have to sit and count the words in the actual exam. You will know when you have reached the expected word count in the actual exam. Can I use both sides of a page in the answer sheet? Yes. You can write on both sides of the pages in the given answer sheet. Can I leave empty lines between paragraphs, because I think it will be more readable? It will be readable otherwise too. By leaving empty lines, you will leave the examiner guessing what the empty lines are for! View All by Liz Practise using the official IELTS writing answer sheet before your test. This lesson also explains how to fill in the answer sheet and how to use it effectively to estimate your word count. Recommended Lessons Writing Task 2 Video Lesson: How to write an introduction By practising with this paper before your actual test you will be able to get used to the size of the paper and the size of the lines you have to write your sentences on. This will ensure that you can write clearly and legibly on the paper. To avoid a penalty you must write 150 words for task one and 250 words for task two. During the test, you don't have time to count the number of words you have written so you want to be able to quickly estimate it. You can do this by working out how many words per line you write and then multiplying this by the number of lines you have written, as follows: total words = words per line x number of lines written See common questions about the writing test: www.ieltsanswers.com/faq-ielts-writing.html IELTS WRITING task 2 academic BAND 9 [Cambridge 14] Watch this video on YouTube.
